

Reclaimed Wood

Sourcing/ Procurement

We search online and other sources for aged barns in need of removal for safety/ insurance or other reasons. For big projects we can supply you with photos before we commit to a specific source. We then go to the location with necessary equipment and perform the take-down. If you need a large supply please inquire as early as possible.

Availability

We have recently acquired a new supply of naturally aged wood from a 128 year old barn take-down in Indiana. We have mostly up 12” wide planks We also have some square beams 18” wide up to 25’ long. We have made contacts and can source more wood in different sizes to fit your needs. From the pictures you can see that we have wood of different aged qualities and colors. The wood from the outside of the barn has lightened to a sort of bleached grey from the white paint and sun-shine. The colors vary some depending on direction the walls were facing due to the different intensity of the sunlight and natural weathering on each side. Then of course you can see the shots from the inside show the wood is much warmer and redder and you can see patterns from the sap and running water. There is also wood from the doors, inside walls and roof all with individual qualities.

Treatment/ Use

We choose solid pieces and treat the wood for insects and moisture and can cut it or build it into any form you need or provide it too you in raw form. We can make frames sign backgrounds, dimensional letters or anything else you can think of out of this wood.

barn take-down

boards cut and stacked in our wood shop